

S/No	Feature	Story number	Description (Card)
1	Active Complaints Count - Unix	USO10	As an admin, I want to know the count of active complaints
2	Consumer Details- Unix	USO11	As an admin, I want to look for a particular consumer so that I can get consumer details
3	Average Bill of Consumers - Unix	USO12	As an admin, I want to calculate the average bill of consumers

Acceptance Criteria (Confirmation)

The file Complaints.txt contains following data in the order

ConsumerId | CustomerName | ComplaintType | Category | Address | Phone | Status. The fields are separated by a comma (",").

Write a Unix command to count the number of active complaints which is provided in Status.

You have a file having bill details. The file bill.txt file which contains data in the following order:

ConsumerId | CustomerName | Phone Number | Address | Bill Amount | Mode of Payment

Write a Unix command to display the details of ConsumerID: 1101132490783 in the given order:

ConsumerId | CustomerName | Bill Amount | Mode of Payment

If the given consumer does not exist, then it should print "Consumer Not Found"

You have a file with bill amount of all consumers for the last 5 months in the given order.

ConsumerID | Customer Name | Month1 | Month2 | Month3 | Month4 | Month5

Write a unix command that calculates the average bill for each consumer and prints the result in below format in descending order:

ConsumerID | Customer Name | Average Bill

Initial Size Estimate (SP)	Business Priority	Sprint Number	Comments